

2 truths and a lie game

For this game you need to come up with 3 statements about yourself that you think people in the room would be interested in and may not already know. 1 of the three statements will be a LIE! (Shocking!) After you share your three statements, people will try and guess which of your statements is the LIE... the more people you fool, the more points you get. When it's their turn to share, you try and guess which of their statements is a LIE, and if you're right you also gain a point.

Scoring:

- For each person you fool when it is your turn, you score 2 points.
- Each LIE you guess correctly when another person shares, you get 1 point.

Example:

1. Chaplain Chris had a mullet in High School.
2. He went to Homecoming his Senior Year with the Homecoming Queen
3. He went to Juarez, Mexico on a Mission Trip when he was 17.

Which is the LIE? If you guessed #3, you'd be right... He actually went to Acapulco for that Mission! Ha Ha... tricky!

Your score card:

of people I fooled! _____ x 2 points = _____ pts

of LIES I guessed _____ x 1 point = _____ pts

Total Score = _____ pts

3 statements about myself... 2 true and 1 lie:
