

A Parent's Intermountain Experience

I am a single parent to two adoptive children, one of whom has suffered with the emotional/behavioral chaos of attachment disorder since early childhood. Despite 4 years of intensive out-patient psychiatric counseling, tutoring and every imaginable therapeutic intervention available in our community, my daughter's condition continued to spiral downward to the verge of suicide and very likely homicide. I was having to call our local police department on a regular basis to help restrain my daughter from serious violence. I was at the brink of losing my family (and possibly my life).

Now, after 18 months of residential treatment at Intermountain, we are an intact family ready to thrive. My daughter is returning home with the skills to manage her feelings and behaviors long before they get to the rage that previously overtook her mind and body. We as a family have learned important skills for success. There are no words adequate to express the depth of my gratitude to Intermountain. This program not only changes lives, it literally saves them!

Last year, Intermountain treated 1334 children and youth, trained over 140 parents and made a very real difference in the health of Montana communities. To learn more about Intermountain Services and how we are helping children and their families visit <http://www.intermountain.org>.

A Parent's Intermountain Experience

I am a single parent to two adoptive children, one of whom has suffered with the emotional/behavioral chaos of attachment disorder since early childhood. Despite 4 years of intensive out-patient psychiatric counseling, tutoring and every imaginable therapeutic intervention available in our community, my daughter's condition continued to spiral downward to the verge of suicide and very likely homicide. I was having to call our local police department on a regular basis to help restrain my daughter from serious violence. I was at the brink of losing my family (and possibly my life).

Now, after 18 months of residential treatment at Intermountain, we are an intact family ready to thrive. My daughter is returning home with the skills to manage her feelings and behaviors long before they get to the rage that previously overtook her mind and body. We as a family have learned important skills for success. There are no words adequate to express the depth of my gratitude to Intermountain. This program not only changes lives, it literally saves them!

Last year, Intermountain treated 1334 children and youth, trained over 140 parents and made a very real difference in the health of Montana communities. To learn more about Intermountain Services and how we are helping children and their families visit <http://www.intermountain.org>.